3 Reading: Gahwa or Bubble Tea? On my own · وحدي

قهوة عربية أم شاي الفقاعات؟

Read the Reading Lab text again. Answer in full sentences.

Every Friday, Omar's family sits together in the majlis. His grandfather pours gahwa from a golden dallah. The coffee is hot and a little bitter, so they eat sweet dates with it. Omar thinks the smell is awesome.

His little cousin Fahad does not agree. "Gahwa is not my thing," he says. "It is too bitter!" Everyone laughs, but Grandfather just smiles and pours another cup.

After lunch, Omar and Hamad go to a new café in the mall. They order bubble tea with big black pearls and wide straws. Hamad loves it. "This is epic," he says. Omar is not sure. The pearls are weird, and the drink is very sweet.

At home, Omar tells his grandfather about the café. The old man laughs. "Bubble tea is cool for young people," he says, "but gahwa is for everyone. Come, sit. I can teach you to pour it." Omar does not say no.

1 What does Omar's family drink in the majlis every Friday?

2 Why do they eat dates with the coffee?

3 Why does Grandfather smile? Is he angry with Fahad?

4 Which drink is 'not your thing'? Why?
