نفي وأسئلة الماضي البسيط

Past Simple Negatives & Questions. We use "didn't" + base verb for negatives, and "Did" + subject + base verb for questions -- for both regular and irregular verbs. Note: after did / didn't the verb goes back to its base form (finish, not finished).

نستخدم "didn't" + الفعل الأساسي للنفي، و"Did" + الفاعل + الفعل الأساسي للأسئلة -- للأفعال المنتظمة والشاذة. ملاحظة: بعد did / didn't يعود الفعل إلى صيغته الأساسية (finish وليس finished).

3 Reading: The Message I Forgot On my own · وحدي

الرسالة التي نسيتها

Read the Reading Lab text again. Answer in full sentences.

On the first morning of Eid, Omar's phone did not stop. His family group chat had two hundred messages before breakfast. His aunt sent a picture of the Eid sheep. His uncle sent a video of the kids. Everyone sent "Eid Mubarak" with a hundred lanterns.

Omar replied to all of them. He called his grandmother. He checked his messages every ten minutes. But he missed one message, and he did not notice. It was from his cousin Faisal. Faisal moved to Dammam last year.

On the third day, Faisal wrote: "Did you forget me?" Omar's face went red. Did he forget? Yes, he did. He didn't see Faisal's name in the long list, so he didn't reply. "I'm so sorry," he typed. "Did you attend the Eid prayer? Did you miss Riyadh?" Faisal did not answer.

So Omar did something better. He bought a box of chocolates, wrote a card by hand, and asked his father to drive to Dammam on Friday. When Faisal opened the door, he laughed. "You forgot me on Eid," he said, "but you came." "I have a reminder now," Omar said. "Next Eid, you are first on my list."

1 What did the family send in the group chat on Eid morning?

2 Why didn't Omar reply to Faisal?

3 Why didn't Faisal answer Omar's sorry message?

4 Did you forget to message someone last Eid? What did you do?
