3 Reading: The Day We Beat Argentina On my own · وحدي

اليوم الذي هزمنا فيه الأرجنتين

Read the Reading Lab text again. Answer in full sentences.

Nobody believed it was possible. On 22 November 2022, Saudi Arabia played Argentina in the World Cup in Qatar. Argentina had Messi. Saudi Arabia had hope. First, Omar woke up early, got ready, and went to Hamad's house to watch the match with the whole family.

At first, it was bad. Messi scored after ten minutes, and the living room went quiet. Hamad's grandfather said, "Be patient." Then, after half-time, everything changed. Al-Shehri scored. Five minutes later, Al-Dawsari took the ball, turned, and shot. Two to one. The boys jumped so high that the popcorn reached the ceiling.

After that came the longest forty minutes in history. Argentina attacked again and again, and the Saudi goalkeeper saved everything. Finally, the whistle. Hamad's mother cried, the grandfather laughed, and outside, every car in Riyadh was honking.

That night, they celebrated in the street with green flags until midnight. That evening, the King announced a holiday for the next day. Omar still has the photo on his wall. "I still remember where I was," he says. "Every Saudi remembers." Some days become history, and some become tradition.

1 Who scored the goals for Saudi Arabia, and when?

2 What did the family do after the match?

3 Why does the writer call the last forty minutes 'the longest in history'?

4 Where were you that day? Tell the story using first, then, after that, finally.
