3 Reading: Exam Week at the Library On my own · وحدي

أسبوع الاختبارات في المكتبة

Read the Reading Lab text again. Answer in full sentences.

It is exam week, and the public library is full. Sara and Noor are sitting at a long table. Sara is highlighting her notes in three colors. Noor is making flashcards for every word in Unit Five.

They are not alone. At the next table, Omar's group is working on a presentation about AlUla. Hamad is drawing the Elephant Rock. Omar is reading about the old city of Hegra, and Ziad is editing the slides on his laptop.

"Are you memorizing or understanding?" Noor asks Sara. Sara laughs. "Both! I am quizzing myself every ten minutes." The librarian walks past and puts a finger on her lips. The girls go quiet.

The deadline is tomorrow, so nobody is going home early. But teamwork makes it easy. At six o'clock, Ziad's slides are ready, Hamad's rock looks real, and Sara knows every word. "Study buddies forever," Noor says, and they pack their bags.

1 What is each person in Omar's group doing?

2 What is the presentation about?

3 Why does the librarian put a finger on her lips?

4 How do you study for a test? Do you use flashcards or highlighters?
